

Marketing Intern
Paid, Part-time/Internship
Washington, DC

ABOUT

Come join our startup team and be part of the launch of a new app on college campuses around Washington, DC. Agnes is a campus way-finding application that actively matches students to events and groups around them based on interests and skills. With so much happening at all times, we're building a better way for students to discover, organize, and engage with meaningful opportunities.

ROLE & IMPACT

The app is available for download on iOS and Android today. Now, it's time to scale. Your job will be to create goodwill, drive downloads, encourage retention, and relay feedback. It will be a self-driven position with little time in an office and the support of an active development team.

TIMELINE

Desired start time is yesterday. Depending on performance and your continued interest, there is potential for continuation through the summer.

COMPENSATION

Base weekly salary with commission based on number of downloads.

To apply, please email joe@agnes.io with your resume and a written paragraph about why this opportunity is of particular interest to you.